Q Brown Street? A. This next street below; I don't know.
This is Brown Avenue.

Q The street south of Brown Avenue? A. The street south.
I think it is Camden Avenue. And walked down to the beach, you know, just like we usually do to see what they were doing, came by and happened to look at my watch and discovered it was five minutes of ten; concluded that I would not stay, I would come back to the house; and just as I did I saw Henry walk apparently from under the boardwalk or in front of his house toward a box and fishing pole that was set there in the sand. Whether these were his or not, I don't know. I simply saw him then coming in.

Q Did you extend any greeting to him? A. I don't remember saying anything to him at all.

Q How near were you to him at this time? A. Possibly fifteen or twenty feet.

Q At that time of night? A. It was five minutes of ten
P. M.

Q Were you able to see at a distance? A. Oh, that distance, yes.

Q Were you on the side of the boardwalk nearest to Mr.
Steven's place? A. Yes, between him and the house.
